DEDICATION...

To one who for two years was our class sponsor;

TO MEREDITH COLLEGE STUDENTS:

This edition of the OAK LEAVES reminds us of varied scenes, people and activities that combine to make this a happy and significant year, I trust, in the experience of us all. It should continually remind us, also, of our shared interests and purposes, and serve as strength and stimulus for the years ahead.

For the privilege of fellowship with you and for your unfailing kindness, I am grateful. My kindest regards and best wishes will continue to be yours.

Cordially yours,
CARLYLE CAMPBELL
President

Senior Class History

Here we are—a few less in numbers than we were four years ago—but full of new experiences—and even somewhat wiser!

Our freshman year . . . will we ever forget those first classes and our feeble, yet hopeful attempts to follow rigid study schedules? or those two slim evening privileges we scrambled to fill with blind dates (and chaperones!) or the night before we went home for our first week end, when we packed everything we had and somehow managed to use it all? or the dining hall bell that rang at odd intervals during the night before Christmas holidays? or our first college exam week: notecards in the breakfast line, notecards under our pillows, notecards in every pocket! Somehow we survived all the newness of it, for we had each other and we had made close friends.

Summer passed quickly and we faced our second year at Meredith, full of determination and resolutions (which consisted largely of new study schedules, and forty dollars worth of textbooks). We were now into the swing of studying and were even beginning to see some connection between our courses. Can we ever forget Stunt Night and our exhilaration? The dining hall bell clanged louder than ever that night, and bathtubs carried a tell-tale yellow make-up stain for months! We saw our big sisters graduate with mixed emotions: a little sad at seeing them go, but happy too for realizing that we were one more step up the ladder.

Our junior year gave us unlimited privileges we somehow never found time to use, for spare hours were now spent working in labs and in the libraries—we were now in our major fields. “Colorama” won for us the Stunt trophy “for keeps” and later there was the excitement of putting on the Junior-Senior. With spring elections came the realization that we were Almost Seniors. Somehow we had never expected time to pass so quickly.

That fall brought many changes: the “new face” on Johnson Hall (will we ever forget the steps where we used to sit and wait for the bus or where we had seen our big sisters form their class numerals?), the new Joyner Hall (modernly beautiful, but won’t we always remember a little warmly our three years of classes in the old arts building?), and a new senior class—us. The Corn Husking Bee, Stunt, Christmas Caroling, May Day, and even exams, were each accompanied by the thought “This is our last—let’s make the most of it” . . . we did.

Meredith has given much to us. Not smugly, but a little proudly, we believe that we have given something of ourselves to her: our loyalties, our dreams, and the enthusiasm of our youth. Somehow, we do not feel it was a poor exchange.

Meredith College Class of 1957

History of the Junior Class

Big Sisters at last!

We got two years behind, but we're not gonna stop;

We got things to plan like the Junior-Senior Hop.

This is the year for the class rings to come,

And a thousand other things just gotta be done.

And indeed those "thousand other things" were important too . . . Rush Week with its many society socials . . . Corn Husking Bee . . . Football Games . . . Stunt Night . . . bridge parties . . . planning for our new Student Union . . . fraternity serenades . . . caroling . . . hall parties . . . diamonds . . . term papers . . . cramming for exams . . . dances at Carolina, State, Duke and Wake Forest . . . elections of rising seniors to head the campus organizations . . . those memorable week ends . . . spring fever . . . more term papers . . . "coffee breaks" . . . May Day. . . . And finally we have earned the name Seniors!

History of the Sophomore Class

What have we here?

Girls who have completed the first half of a swift journey during which they have . . .

. . . worked together on Corn Husking, Stunt, and the daisy chain

. . . played together in team sports on the athletic field, and bridge in the new Meredith College Student Union

. . . studied together “When that Aprille,” atoms, and amoebas

. . . worshipped together at family altar, chapel, and church

Girls who have grown together through all these experiences and are now ready to enter the upperclassman’s coach for the last half of their challenging journey.

Organizations and Clubs

Student Government Council

"... Each student is personally responsible for her own conduct, for her obligations to the college community, and for informing herself of and abiding by the college regulations." This honor code is the basis upon which the Student Government Council of Meredith College acts and guides.

During orientation week, through handbook classes, and open meetings held every Thursday in Chapel, the Council attempts to instill the principles of the honor code in the minds of the students. Student opinion, criticism, and suggestions are presented during this time and a constant effort is made to improve student-faculty relations and, on the whole, to make it possible for each Meredith girl to receive all the advantages obtained from self-government.

The Social Standards Committee, comprised of the class presidents, class representatives, and society presidents, works under the Social Standards Chairman of the Council. This committee attempts to integrate the principles of correct behavior with the social events and activities of Meredith.

Through these various means and in cooperation with the Advisory and Faculty Committees to Student Government, the Council works to promote high academic, social, and moral standards.

Freshman and Transfer Counselors

When a new student enters Meredith, she enters a life that can prove to be quite bewildering as well as new and exciting. The counseling program is set up to help new students adjust themselves in such a manner that they can make their own the academic ideals, Christian principles, and fun and friendliness that symbolize Meredith.

Small groups guided by a student counselor and a faculty adviser meet monthly to discuss informally social behavior, manner of dress on and off campus, study habits, and citizenship and honor. The purpose of counseling is to make it possible for each student to have a rich and meaningful four years, thus making the college experience a happy memory.

Baptist Student Union

Baptist Student Union—worship at vespers—a Tuesday chapel speaker or open meeting—a Y.W.A. study course—a sunrise service—Family Altar—a dorm discussion during Religious Focus Week—fun and fellowship with students from other colleges. This is "B.S.U." in action.

The theme for 1956-57 fitted well our position as Christian students in a community of learning—"Lord, Teach Us." Keeping this theme in mind the executive council met early in September at Holden's Beach to co-ordinate plans for the year. Upon our return to the campus for Orientation Week, we promptly introduced the new students to Baptist Student Union, which is not only an agency of state-wide and southwide Baptists, but the co-ordinating organization for all Christian student work on campus. The State College Baptist Student Union joined us in entertaining the new students of both colleges in the Meredith College court our first Saturday night in Raleigh.

"In the midst of classes Christ we shall proclaim." After classes began, the regular schedule of vespers, Executive and Greater Council meetings, LISTEN offerings, and Y.W.A. hall meetings filled the weekdays. On the week ends the Baptist Student Union co-operated with several Raleigh churches to introduce the girls to a new "church home" and interest them in active participation in Sunday School and Training Union. A special opportunity came our way this year when the North Carolina Baptist Student Union Convention was held in Raleigh. Another "special" was Religious Focus Week in February.

Through this work the Baptist Student Union hoped to train college youth for Christian leadership, to link the student with the church, and to strengthen individual Christian commitment as it serves the college community and the larger community of which the college is a part.

The Meredith College Playhouse consists of students who have worked on at least one play. For the first time this year, freshmen are able to come in as associate members. The Playhouse helps students who have an interest in any phase of dramatics. This gives them an opportunity to become better acquainted with the efforts which go into producing a play.

The Playhouse has workshops on different aspects of dramatics. All of the work done by students in the Playhouse gives them points toward Alpha Psi Omega, the honorary dramatics fraternity.

Astrotekton. It literally means 'star-builder'; to wearers of the white and gold it means:

The frantic frenzy of Rush Week. Hot dogs and chili for hungry freshmen, Holt singing "Getting to know You," Mother Astro and her burning star, Patterson and the SAE's playing "The Belles of Saint Mary's," worries, tears, pleas, and finally, a hundred new sisters, all dressed in yellow, to brag about.

Eunice's grand job of producing entertainment for the old Astros, a play-back of Rush Week. Mighty talented girls.

A Christmas visit to the School for the Colored Blind: tiny hands, unseeing eyes, tear-rending voices. If only we could do more.

Parties with Bet hammering away on the old Hut piano while two hundred voices shout "This little Astro light of mine."

B. J.'s bright yellow dress, Stembridges' Phi hat (what's "Peanut" wearing?), Billy's disappearance, and Kitty's inspiring "Get up and go." "Maybe we'll win the cup this year, but the Phi's have all the athletes." Marcy: "Get your trash-cans, girls, we've got to practice." Jackie: "Who wants to work in the Student Union Saturday night?" "We don't want . . . your green-back dollars. . . ."

A sisterhood . . . Two hundred and fifty girls who believe that if they build beneath the stars, they build too low . . . Two hundred and fifty girls who believe in one true Light to guide them . . . Two hundred and fifty star-builders.

The Athletic Association

The Athletic Association of Meredith College has as its membership the entire student body. The A.A. consists of students who head the different major and minor sports, of which the A.A. is in charge, each student working towards active participation in the various activities. Advising the A.A. Board are the faculty of the Department of Health and Physical Education.

At the end of each season, medals are awarded to the members of the varsity teams of each major sport. To the most outstanding Freshman participant in hockey, a hockey stick is duly awarded. A cup is given to the society, Phi or Astro, that through competition has received the largest number of points during the school year. One of the greatest honors is a trophy given at the end of the year to the girl who has contributed most to the activities sponsored by the Athletic Association. Also under the direction of the

A.A. are the Dance Group, Monogram Club, and the Equitation Group.

Throughout the school year, the A.A. sponsors many activities in which the whole campus takes part. In the fall the main event is the Corn Huskin' Bee. This event includes the faculty as well as students, who dress up in unusual costumes and compete by classes in various activities for first place. The classes again compete in original stunts for the silver cup awarded on the annual Stunt Night. The A.A. arranges the Christmas Caroling which takes place the night before Christmas Holidays. In the Spring comes the traditional Student-Faculty Play Day. For a whole afternoon the students and faculty compete in activities from checkers right on up to a baseball game, climaxed in the evening by a picnic in the court. May Day is also sponsored by the A.A. and includes the spectacular Horse Show in the afternoon.

Nominating Committee

Early in the spring, the Nominating Committee begins a series of meetings to nominate candidates for all campus organizations, except the clubs, the four classes and the three honor societies. The Chief Counselor is the Chairman and serving with her are the presidents of the major organizations, the editors-in-chief of the publications, the class presidents, and the college marshal. Two faculty members, representatives of the four classes, and the Dean of Students participate in the proceedings but do not vote.

The ever-present aim of the Nominating Committee is to aid in the conducting of fair and democratic campaigns and elections. Several weeks before the elections, the student body is given information on the qualifications desirable in officers and then is asked to fill out a "straw" ballot to aid the Nominating Committee in choosing candidates. Registration books are opened in advance and American election procedures are followed.

It is through the co-operation of the Nominating Committee and the Student Body that worthy campus leaders are nominated and elected.

The Day Students of Meredith College. That name brings to mind many happy experiences and cherished memories. We remember the "Angel Voices" ringing through the library at noon when the girls grabbed a lunch bag and crammed into the day students' room for that continual game of bridge or to catch up on the latest gossip.

Surprises galore rushed at us when we crossed the threshold of another year. New slip covers, new lamps, and can you believe it, new venetian blinds! Upon a closer look we saw old landmarks and realized that this was our old home made new.

The year began with a gala time of roasting weiners and welcoming the new freshmen and transfers.

Christmas time came round and we joined the resident students for the annual Christmas caroling tour of Raleigh. Later we got those crazy presents from our schoolmates and drank hot chocolate to make us forget the coldness of the Hut.

Our chapel program was a scream and we felt we had presented a big success.

Play Day came, and again we walked away with many honors because of the enthusiasm and co-operation of each day student.

Throughout the year, we tried to give more of ourselves to Meredith. More and more the day students shared campus life by holding offices and participating in campus activities.

We day students of Meredith cherish these memories of another wonderful college year.

pertaining to marriage, and several parties. The girls enjoy getting together, talking about married life, and suggesting things that they have learned about building a successful marriage. This is indeed a very special club and one that many people would love to join.

The Bunyan Yates Tyner Future Teachers of America is the Meredith Chapter of the National Future Teachers organization. It is composed of juniors and seniors who plan to teach in various fields; however, underclassmen who aspire to the teaching profession have also been encouraged to join during this school year. Monthly meetings are held which usually feature an address of general interest to all.

The highlights of the year's program have been a Western style party for the children of the Goodwill Center and an "adoption system," whereby each of these children was adopted for special attention during the year by a member of the club. This project has been beneficial to both students and children by contributing to the specific needs of each. The chapter also sponsors annually, a delegate to the State Teachers Convention, which was held in Wilmington this year.

The Triple Trio is composed of members selected from the Meredith College Chorus. This group has represented the college at such functions as the Student Legislature, the College Television Hour, the Mid-State Safety Council, and the annual Raleigh

The chorus, composed of fifty-six voices representing every major field on the campus, has had another very successful year. The public appearances this year included special music for Founder's Day, chapel exercises, the Baptist State Convention in Winston-Salem, the Christmas concert, at which time we presented the "story of Christmas" in song, the Christmas day program over WPTF, the Institute of Religion, the Spring Concert in May, and the Commencement exercises. Small ensembles from the chorus sang on many occasions. The chorus was very proud of its new robes, acquired this year.

Throughout the year, the efforts of the Home Economics Club members have been directed toward the knowledge and appreciation of North Carolina crafts, with monthly meetings on the theme "A Glimpse of Our Native Arts and Crafts." The programs, presented by demonstrations, guest speakers, and field trips, were varied at Christmas time by a little creative activity in the renovation and dressing of dolls for needy children.

This is the club's thirty-fourth year as a growing organization on the campus. Its affiliation with the North Carolina and the American Home Economics Association entitled the club to send delegates to the state convention in Winston-Salem and the national convention in Washington, D. C. Membership in the organization is granted any student who has a major or related field in home economics.

La Tertulia is composed of all those interested in both the Spanish language and culture; however, girls do not necessarily have to take Spanish in order to belong. One of the year's highlights was the festive October Halloween Party, which was attended by the Spanish-speaking boys from State College. Christmas caroling to the Spanish families in Raleigh was planned; this, we hope, will become an annual affair. La Tertulia has been an excellent means to meet many interesting people from other nations.
